MELROSE HIGH SCHOOL

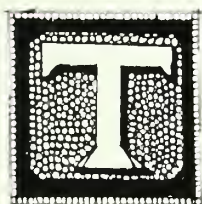

time (tim), n. 1. A general concept that can be divided into measurable portions of blocks, days, weeks, WEEKENDS, months, and years encompassing the past, present, and future.

Time, comprised of past, present, and future, brings us to where we are today. One must change with the times. Capturing the essence of high school life and projecting forecasts of time to come is what a yearbook is all about. As the times change, so must a yearbook.

Years from now, looking back on high school, names and faces will be just that, names and faces. Stories behind these names and faces are what really tell it all. As time goes on, the names get fuzzy and the faces begin to look somewhat unfamiliar. However, a story told on paper is one forever told. This yearbook will always hold the memories of the past.

The yearbook is about the class of 1988, although thoughts of high school will always center around a smaller group of friends. This yearbook can relay the accomplishments of distant classmates and perhaps give a greater respect for the many individual personalities that collectively make up our class.

A Minute With The Men In Charge

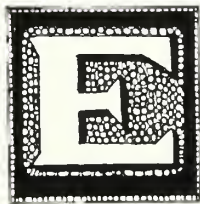

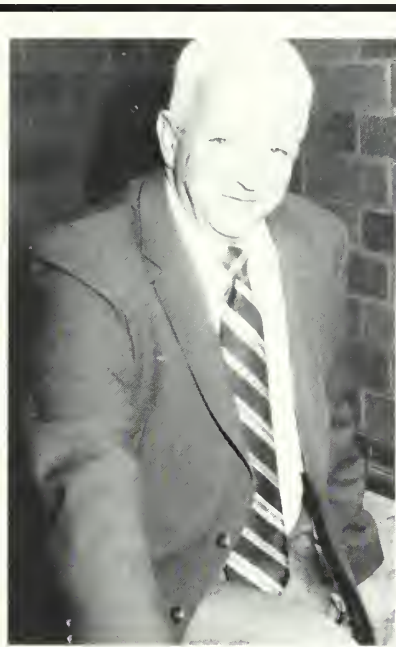

he assistant principal—that far away being that roams the halls to make sure that everything is in order, is not just the figurehead that everyone thinks he is.

Born in Everett, Mr. Frontero worked his way through the town's public school system. Graduating from Everett High School, he went on to Northeastern University. He was a teacher and an adjustment counselor at Everett High, prior to coming to Melrose High.

Mr. Frontero's main job at MHS is programming the schedules for the students and teachers, and computing the report cards. He is also the "administrative liaison" for the head teachers and directors. He feels that the students should have ample time for scheduling and that once having decided on a schedule, a student should adhere to it. Mr. Frontero believes that this approach will prepare the students for later life when they must make commitments. He thinks of the class of 1988 as a very active and involved class; he regards the beginning of our senior year as one of the best in his years at Melrose High.

 "He's for the students, not against them."
  "He comes to the kids' level. He says what's on his mind."
  "He's very understanding, and he's someone to look up to, to admire, and to go to with a problem."

very student at Melrose High School knows that our principal is Claude Croston, but few of us know the man from the first floor office. Born in Haverhill, Mr. Croston attended Haverhill High and after graduating went on to Wake Forest University, where he majored in the Social Sciences. Mr. Croston came to Melrose High as a psychology teacher in 1958, and he was, according to his colleagues, "a teacher's teacher." He took over the position of principal at M.H.S. the year before the move to the new building. From the start, he has given all of his energy to make Melrose High the best high school in the country. Mr. Croston maintains a true open door policy, always trying to help his kids in any way he can. In his duties as our principal, he is responsible for the administration of the staff, the faculty, and the other administrators. He supervises safety and security, and makes sure that we, his students, get the best possible education. It is, to quote our principal, "a monumental task."

 "He's tough on the outside, but he's really a sweetheart."
  "He's cool. I love him."
  "For a management type he's O.K., I suppose."

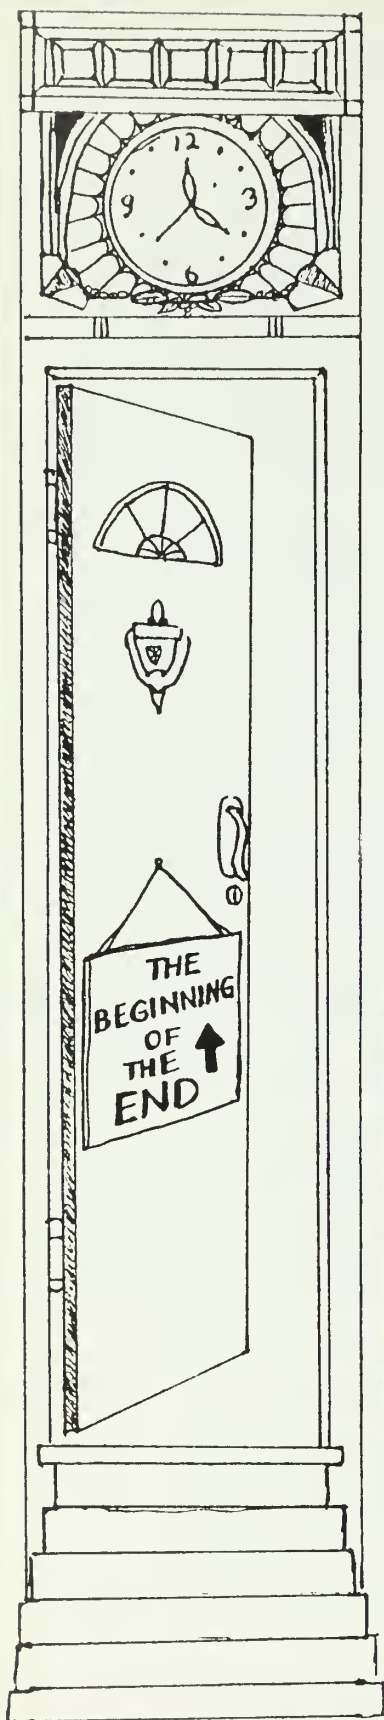

r. Hurley grew up in Malden but has since transplanted his roots to Melrose. He graduated from Boston College and received his Master's Degree from Boston University. He has four sons, three of whom attend Melrose Public Schools. Mr. Hurley has coached baseball, basketball, and Little League teams, and was once an Athletic Director.

Mr. Hurley is known throughout M.H.S. as the disciplinarian; he has been an assistant principal for six years. Before that he worked as a guidance counselor and, in many ways, Mr. Hurley still gives guidance to M.H.S. students. He also gives advice to Mr. Croston for the curriculum and overall operations of Melrose High School.

 "He's swell."
  "He has a heart the size of a house."
  "When I think of him, I think, 'Please report to the second floor office.'"

He retraced the familiar route. He did so instinctively, having walked it every school day for the last . . . was it five years already? It finally hit him. Using all of the math skills he had learned in twelve years past, he computed: six minus five equals . . . one! One year left! "This is the first day," he paraphrased quietly, "of the rest of my school life!" His stomach did a flip and his heartrate doubled. A senior! He was a senior! Awed, he stopped and took a closer look at his surroundings. Every familiar detail seemed strange, bathed in a new light. His place in the universe was different now. He would only pass these scenes another—two times one hundred fifty schools days—three hundred or so times. The coming school year took on a new perspective. It would be his last, but it would be his best, the crowning achievement to his school career. No more would he be late to homeroom; he wouldn't miss another homework. Straight A's this year for sure! Squaring his shoulders, he resumed his walk to school, arriving only five minutes late to homeroom.

It's the end of your senior year. No more excuses, this is it. For the first time, you are truly allowed to do what you want. No one is there to nag you to do your homework. It's up to you. In college, or so you've heard, you pass or fail on your own credentials, not on how good your support network is. You have true responsibility for the first time, true accountability. Now you answer to yourself, not to your parents, not to your teachers. It is now that you find out if you, yourself, are equal to the task of life—the adventure, the learning that awaits! Now you will learn who it is that you truly are. You see the first glimmerings of what it is you actually want to be. You will begin to discover the depths and beauties of others and yourself. All of this now lies on the horizon.

Take A Minute To Meet Us

K. Deleire, S. Strunk, K. Denehy, and M. Cirillo, "Oh . . . Hello Mr. Croston! What? . . . The bell did ring?"

Sean Brennan appears to be the loser of art class musical chairs.

Frank Moccia and Neil LeColst "Quiz? . . . you mean NOW?"

The alarm rings—six o'clock. He heads for the shower in hopes that it will awaken his groggy body. It doesn't. He tumbles into school by quarter to eight and then patiently tolerates five (or was it six?) teachers trying to cram knowledge into his already confused brain. At two o'clock he lugs home all of his homework (at least what he hasn't forgotten—those morning classes seem so distant now). He completes them along with various other activities; some are vital to his existence, others are time killers. He drops off to sleep. The alarm rings. It's Tuesday.

We're all familiar with this routine—too familiar. The routine has linked us together in coexistence for three years. However, it is the only thing about us that others see. Overlooking the many diverse individuals that make up the class of 1988 is much like merely looking at the surface of a clock. It is the many small parts inside the clock that make it tick, while the face is only a display. The class of 1988 is made up of 365 moving parts that give us the life and movement that is seen from the outside.

Time To Get Ready

Some familiar sounds returned to the athletic field in late August. The sounds of players moaning, coaches yelling and whistles blowing echoed through the empty bleachers.

These sounds of soccer, volleyball, field hockey, golf, band, football, girls swimming, cross country and cheerleading, were heard as the teams stormed the field for strenuous summer sessions. The sessions ran throughout late August with tiresome morning and afternoon practices.

The athletes didn't exactly enjoy having to practice in ninety degree heat for four hours a day. One football player was even heard saying after sessions were over, "I'd rather be in a Turkish prison than go through that again!" The heat can take its toll on a player, especially if he has to repeat a drill five or six times.

That's why the most welcome sight at practice is the water fountain.

Although summer sessions are not on the athletes' list of favorite summer activities, they all realize that these sessions are necessary if the team is to be prepared for the season.

The bell rings.
The last day is over.
Finals are finished.
Freedom!
Brains die instantaneously.
Beaches are covered.
Mountains are climbed.
Lakes are swum.
Jobs are found.
Time is lost.
Friends are working.
Families vacation.
Clothes are bought.
Days are shorter.
The last cook-out is cooked.
Reality strikes.
Brains are slowly reborn.
The bell rings.

Summer Job Blues

Kristy Guarnieri displays an over-enthusiastic "Have a nice day!" at Brooks Drug

"Summer '87", when given this phrase do you connect it with work? Many of the members of the class of 1988 do. The two major things motivating summer employment are the high price of college and the need for pocket money.

Amy Walsh worked at the Chipyard in Faneuil Hall. She worked eight hours a day, seven days a week. "It was awesome."

Kim Ngo worked at a camp for abled/disabled children. Her most memorable experience was when an extremely large nine year old began to slap, grab, and punch the other people on the boat to George's Island. "It was the best job I ever had!"

Don Felker worked forty hours a week at Kappy's Liquors bottle return. "Hiccough—no comment."

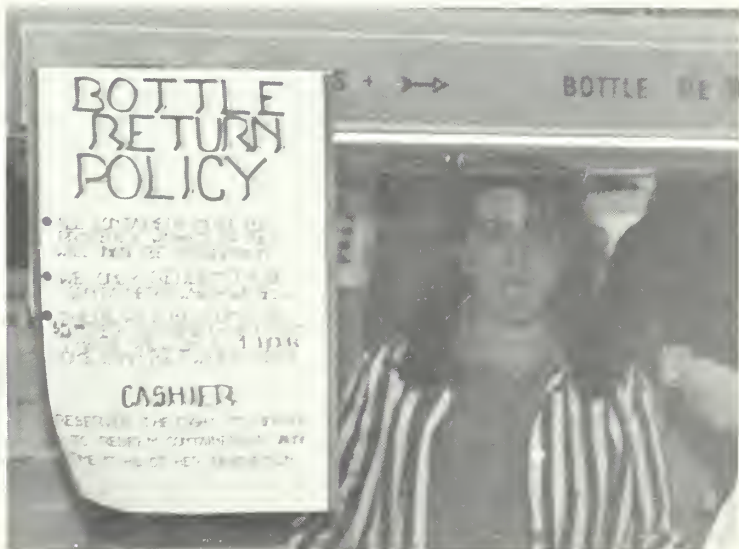

Kerry O'Leary worked 45-60 hours a week at the outdoor YMCA pool. Her funniest experience was when two frogs were found in the less than crystal clear deep end. "It was fantastic to get paid while getting tan."

Tania Wadland worked at Anton's Cleaners. "My summer was really good." These memories of summer '87 will remain with us as we enter the real work world. This was the last summer of our childhood.

You're sleeping soundly in your bed.
A frightful buzzing fills your head.
"What is that noise?" you say,
As that ring chases sleep away.
"I have to get up, what a bummer,"
Up before dawn in the middle of summer.
Joining a race with no reason or rhyme—
What a way to spend your time.
"Why?", you ask, "must it be this way?"
But you need money to pay your way.
So get out of bed. Don't be a dork—
You'll end up being late for work!

The All-Knowing Class Of '88 Says . . .

WHAT'S HOT AND WHAT'S NOT

Simon says run out and buy a pair of colored hi-tops. No, not Nike, Converse hi-tops—you three are out.

Simon says wear baggy clothes. Sorry, you're out—Simon didn't say skintight Jordache.

Simon says wear yarn bracelets.

Simon says read "Calvin and Hobbes."

Listen to Michael Jackson. Sorry, Simon didn't say.

Simon says buy something Gucci; Simon says buy another Fendi.

Save lots of money and buy fake imitations. You're out, you've got to listen to Simon.

Simon says visit another country.

Simon says wear tie-dye clothes.

Wear two-tone jeans. Sorry, you guys are way out. Simon said that last game.

Simon says cut your hair and spike it.

Grow a tail. Nope! Simon didn't say.

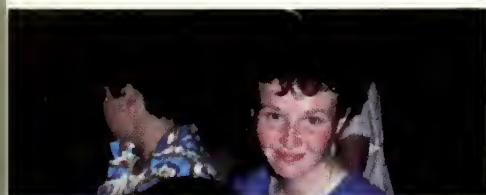

Wear socks with cuffed jeans—Gotcha! Never, wear socks.

THE HAWAIIAN DANCE: A Time To Limbo

Think back. Think waaaaay back to our first year at Melrose High School. Do you remember this night? About one hundred sophomores dressed up in their wildest Hawaiian duds to grace the dance floor in the cafetorium. For three and one half hours we engaged in hula dancing, party trains, and a back breaking limbo contest amidst huge paper flowers and brightly colored leis. Adding to the fun were the fabulous dance techniques of class advisors Mrs. Kossuth and Mr. Gillick. Without a doubt, this was definitely one of the most memorable nights during our time here at M.H.S. . . Aloha!

Mrs. Lynda Isaacs: "Get that lens outta my face!"

Mrs. Fondulis sighs sadly as the clock inches towards lunchtime.

Mrs. Audrey Luongo: "You want to DANCE with me?"

Mr. Richard Brown: "I'm giving you jokers just one more chance . . ."

Mr. Arthur Poulos watches the students return for the first day of school while Mr. Patrick Melvin, frozen with fear, prepares for another year.

Mr. Peter Brown and Mr. William Cooper select students for the assassination list.

Mr. Claude Croston and Mr. Edward Gillick: "See? It's so weird. When you tap my head my right leg shoots up like an arrow!"

Caught red-handed in Mr. Croston's doughnut supply, Mr. Michael Glynn, gropes for a valid excuse.

Mr. Joseph Messina: "Hey! Gimme a high five, it's Friday!"

Guess Who? Tick, Tock, Tick . . .

SPORTS

"Join girls cross country?—But I don't know how to ski!"

Too many of us have heard too much of this over the years. Although convincing a classmate to run three miles up and down hills is worse than pulling teeth, Melrose High School managed to dredge up (we like that word Mr. Poulos!) a girls' team for the second year in a row. The team, consisting of nine runners set a school record with three wins, (DON'T laugh, a school record is a school record!).

The old pros had a lot to adjust to this year due to the new coaching of Mr. Allison. However, it was a pleasant switch to have a coach running with you instead of driving beside you. It was difficult, though, to say goodbye to many traditions. "You start running at the gate," "You have to cross the sidewalk to DO Pumphouse," "You're supposed to slap the gate when you come in" and, of course, mini vans.

Some traditions never die. Our good times include: Happy Birthday ice cream with broken spoons, "We won a few and we still looked good!" Candles to open the lockers, "you took my blue socks," the forgotten K party, "where are the freshmen?", green trash barrels—relax!

Thanks Mr. Allison, sorry for a few things. Thanks guys, "Yeah, you made a better cake—we admit it."

"New" is the word for 1987, a season which included a new coach, a new athletic director, a new track, and a JV team for the first time in several years. Each one of these changes promises an optimistic future for the young Melrose team. This is not to say that this past season was not a success. Melrose was a strong team in the competitive Middlesex League.

Much of the team's strength is owed to the knowledge of Coach Kevin Allison and to the discipline of the runners themselves. Practices were long and difficult and the weather was not always great, but each member of the team stuck it out until the very end.

The season ended with a varsity record of 4-5, a JV record of 2-3, and many, many memories. Who said boys can't bake a cake? Do we have to run in the snow, Coach? Think green, think trash barrels, think relax! How come all the other teams have a bus ride home? "Yes, the finish is just over the next hill, Mr. Lane. HA, HA!", "Do we all get trophies if Melrose takes the first three places?" The Whopper King warm-up—it really works! No, we wanted to run seventeen miles!!

Listen up sportsfans . . . The Melrose High Volleyball team has won an official match, against an official team, doubling last year's wins. Our win over Masconomet was well earned when, halfway through our third game, captain Judy Camuso re-injured her ankle and had to sit out of our next three matches. Her injury, along with Lisa Murray's, weakened the team, and prevented more wins.

The season did have its highlights. Statechamps, N. Reading said we were their toughest competition and other events such as Lisa "No Treads" crashing into the net and Wendy's "rhythmic calls," made our season incredibly fun. We seniors hope to see lots of wins next year. Good luck! Miss us! Remember . . . our team's thinner anyway.

Memories: Hussy, Heifer, "u all need a little cula in this picture!"; Just a SHAME, "I got it . . . no I don't."; F. Hockey cheers, "Can we get water now?"; Kath psuedo-dinks, Jen K's psuedo set. Degr "What? Oh, that was in," H.W. "Sir, that ball hit the ground!" Clutzy! . . . no ducking, floor burns, Bessy, Zippa, diving dinks, and the team says, "nice season team!"

The Melrose High School Varsity Boys' Soccer team may not have had the best record in the league, but it was not the worst. Remember the game with Winchester, a 3-1 win, the 1-1 tie with Belmont, and the 0-0 Wakefield half. Forget the 7-1 loss to Winchester and the 3-2 loss to Watertown. Thank God Stoneham is in our league. We had fun.

This team had a lot of talent, but the many injuries led to some tough losses. Some of the most interesting moments of this season were the brawl with Stoneham, "Who started that?" and "Let's go to the beach!" We wish both girls' and boys' soccer good luck in the future. We thank the girls' soccer team, the cheerleaders, and the fans for the food, fun, and support.

Funny occurrences were: nose to your toes, TP-ing the girl soccer players' and cheerleaders' houses, play with your arts, Andy's slide tackles, he really works his *@! off! "How did Jay Synott get so fast during the game?" Thirteen minute runs during double sessions, "You gotta 'ussle!", '86's LMBs, and Pee Wee Threesomes.

Entering the 1987 season, the football players set out to prove themselves to the rest of the Middlesex League. After the past few seasons of mediocre football teams as MHS, this the Red Raiders showed themselves to be a tough team.

The football team accomplished what they set out to do by compiling an 8-2 record. As one can imagine, with the team having such a good season there were many memorable moments including: Mowtown in Hollywood, the dummy fiasco at Wakefield High, body by Bairs, Tony's gymnastics on film, "Suey, Suey!" and 'nip, nap' Bemiss.

Captain Cliff McDonald believes that Melrose has a lot of talented players coming back for next year's team. "I'm sure that if they work hard, their record will speak for itself." Best of luck from the senior Red Raiders."

Being a young and inexperienced team somewhat hampered the performance of the 1987 Melrose Field Hockey Team. With the successful record of last year's team hanging over their heads, they had a lot to live up to. However, the girls handled the pressure well and came away with not only a very successful season, but also a very enjoyable one.

The Stoneham game will always be remembered as the one in which all the girls' communication came together. They played their best that day. The girls put a lot of work into this season and co-captains Laura Anastas and Cathy Shea predict that if next year's team works just as hard, they could easily be a very competitive team.

The 1987 will always be a memorable one with: Cathy falling, Halloween Party, "We're a bus!!", rocks, pumpkin party at Genna's, "Look... a corvette!", game face, fun facts, tossing Skittles, playing baseball with our sticks, field hockey banquet, party at Cathy's house, and seniors at Prince Pizza.

The Golf Team entered this season with the longest winning streak of all MHS varsity teams. They had not tasted the bitter pill of defeat in two years. The team's winning ways continued until they met Stoneham.

Although their winning streak was ended, the golfers still had a fun season with many memorable moments including: the brawl on the 15th, Case under the weather, "Hey Pete, are you hungry?", Ed, 9-up, and nice king wood ding.

Capt. Dan Dwyer expects next year's team to do very well. He cautions, however, that the team to watch out for is Woburn.

The Melrose High Swim Team, captained this year by Shannon Doherty, had one of their greatest seasons ever. These talented swimmers came very close to beating Belmont and missed being league champs by only half a point. Adding to their glory was a terrific victory against Lexington, their long time rivals, to make Melrose's record 5-1.

As for the future, the senior swimmers admit that next year's team will be small, but there are many talented underclassmen returning. Good luck and remember, the underclassmen just keep us seniors smilin'!

What season would be complete without a compiled list of memories? This year's swim team will never forget: THE VIDEO! Deb P. "Will you put that bathing cap on right!"; "Hey Monica!"—"Yeah!"; Amy get a grip on it. How's your face, Maura? Shannon, is it still attached? . . . Deb L. that laugh! Practicing at the outdoor pool at 7:00 a.m., exactly, how cold was it! Pushing Coach in the water—are you really hip?

Above all, the seniors give Coach Whitworth a million thanks for years of fun. Also a special congrats to Zanita for surviving her first Melrose High School season. We will miss you!!

The football cheerleaders had a terrific time this season. It was a lot of fun cheering for a top-rate team and spreading spirit throughout the school. We would like to thank Mrs. Leeman for EVERYTHING, and Mr. Lane for supporting us 100%. Of course, we can't forget all the students who faithfully filled the stands every weekend—we appreciate it!

The soccer cheerleaders had a really great year. Although the team's record wasn't the best, we still had a lot of fun. We'd like to thank our coach Terry Jackson, Mrs. Jackson, and Auntie Corrinne for all their help and support. Also, we'd like to thank Mr. Lane for his enthusiasm for us and the team. We'll never forget all the good times we've had.

When the buzzer sounds, interrupting a tense basketball game, who takes over the court to entertain for twenty seconds? It's us —the basketball cheerleaders! We've had an excellent season this year. No squad could have asked for a better group of players to root to victory.

We would like to thank Mrs. Leeman for always standing behind us, and Coach Papas and Mr. Lane for their support from start to finish. Memories include: Exhibition? Yes? No? Maybe? Girl's locker room-enough hair spray? "Let's go Johnny O!" "Pau-ul!" Jenn—Stoneham game? Oh well. Michele—"I don't care!" Kerry O—"Want my skirt, too?" "Kerry T—ABSOLUTELY! J & P! Good luck to the squads of future years and lots of luck to Molly, Kyle, Leeann, Mary, Jen, Leanne and Leah (Hello-o!). Someday that dance room will be open!

A trio of captains: Hockey captain Lenore Glennon, Basketball captain Michele Pellegrino and Hockey captain April Venuti.

The Hockey cheerleaders had a great year and a lot of fun times. We'd like to thank our coach Terri Jackson, Mrs. Jackson, and Mr. Lane for their support throughout the season. We'd also like to remember some of the good times we had:

Capt. Ape & Capt. Nor!, Abbott's truck, Hey Watertown U.G.L.Y. Brunch at Ape's one big family. T.T. is my name. Go Dick! Lyn, how's your knee? Kristen-Ha Ha cheer rinks? Good luck next year Kristien S., Nicki, Stacey, Jill, Kristen, Joann, Jen, Kristen C., Jackie, and Jen Mur. We love ya Terri- Good Luck!

The Melrose High Gymnastics team backflipped their way to a very successful season. Led by Coach Wendy Gobeille and Captain Crissy Thirkell, this group of talented girls ended their season with an outstanding record of 5 wins and 2 losses. However, a heart breaking moment occurred when they failed to gain a place in the sectionals by only one point. Nevertheless, it was an exciting and enjoyable season for all the gymnasts.

Memories include: Defeating Stoneham by less than one point, Suzy's five-minute uneven bars routine.

This year's wrestling team finished with a respectable 10-5 record, a fourth place finish in the prestigious Lowell Tournament, and a third in the Sectionals. Although the year was a success, untimely injuries to Phil Aylward and Mike Grover prevented a stellar season.

In the sectionals, five wrestlers placed in the top four to qualify for the states. These included three champs, Brian Maher, Donald Gautreau and Cliff McDonald, and two runner-ups, Jim McSweeney and Kevin Breen. Fred Harris also qualified as an alternate with a fifth place finish.

Seniors Breen, Gautreau, Glazier, and McDonald would like to wish next year's team good luck and would like to thank coaches Smith and Sullivan.

Although the Girls Varsity Basketball Team didn't have the best record in the Middlesex League, they did have the most fun trying. Their one win over Winchester was achieved through teamwork and excellent individual performances from each team member. Next year's team is expected to imitate this performance and to win many games. The team would like to thank coaches Matt and Julia. The outgoing seniors wish next year's team the best of luck.

The 1988 basketball team made an impressive showing this year for Melrose High. They were graced with many talented players. As far as talent went, there was not a great difference between the first and last player which gave the team a very strong bench performance. The team had a powerful defense and was often able to hold their opponents under fifty points. The practices, as well as the games, were filled with much intensity and energy. The seniors extend the best of luck to the underclassmen in the years to come.

The Winter Track Team started the 1987-88 season with bright hopes and much enthusiasm. This year's new coach, Greg Kasabian, proudly led the optimistic young team into the tough competition of the Middlesex League. However, this year's team was mainly underclassmen and greatly lacked experience. Although each member put forth a valiant effort, as a team, Melrose did not become a dominating force in the league. This is not to say that the meets were not exciting. Chris Pierce and Jim Olson led the Melrose sprinters, while Bob Cargill and Ted Jendrysik excelled in the 300 yard race. Tom Cargill and Bill Babcock made their marks in the middle distance events, and Brian Ross was the team's main distance runner. Rob McCarthy and Chris Pierce soared in the high jump, and Joe Mercer was nearly undefeated in the shot put. Despite the hard work of the team, Melrose finished the season with a 2-7 record. Melrose is now the new young kid on the block. They are gaining experience quickly and should prove to be a dominating force in the future. Good luck!

The Boys' Varsity Swim team had another extremely successful season this year, holding a record of 9 and 2 claim second place in their league. This year's team was a strong one with much fresh talent backed by returning seniors Randy Sampson, John Downey, Keith Woods, and John Tirrell. They made up for a lack of depth with power, remaining undefeated until finally succumbing to the undefeated Winchester team midway through the season. Coach Grant looks to next year as a possible championship year, with a team led by the strong younger swimmers who made an impressive showing. Alas, there were few memorable moments to look back on this year, swimming being what it is, though the whole team would like to thank Randy for the TP at MC, and we all wish Tirrell and his wardrobe the best of luck.

The 1987-88 hockey season started out in a promising way. We had a 6-1 record after the first seven games, and we won the jamboree against Reading.

At midseason things started getting tough. Injuries plagued the Raiders, and the Woburn games were definite disappointments. At the end of the season, we had missed the tournament by one point.

Melrose proudly had five All-Star players. They were seniors Jeff Connor, Joe D'Alelio, Steve Connolly, Dan Griffin, and junior Brian Crovo.

The team would like to thank Coach Umile, Coach Abbott, the cheerleaders, and the parents for everything. Hey fans, "Where were you when we needed you?"

THANKSGIVING DAY RALLY

We're not here to start any trouble,
 We just here to do the Red Raider Shuffle!
 We're ready for tomorrow in every way,
 It's great to be home for Thanksgiving Day!
 I'm Chad Maguire and I play defense,
 You might say when I play I'm rather intense!
 I'm Chris Pierce, and they should have learned
 If you throw me the bomb, someone's gonna get burned!
 I'm Rob Azevedo, I'm a defensive back,
 And I can stop a passing attack!
 I'm Brian Bemiss, I like to receive
 And make that defensive back believe!
 I'm Tim Kelleher and I can be found
 Planting their running back in the ground!
 I'm Vin Zingariello, I know a few tricks
 Like blocks, tackles, runs and kicks!
 I'm Jim Olson, and I like to run,
 Give me the handoff, and I'll get it done!
 Tomorrow when the game is done,
 Our record will read 9 and 1!
 I'm Mike Kasprzak, and you better beware,
 Because I can move that ball through the air!
 I'm Shane Rodriguez, and I manage these guys,
 They're wild and mean, and I tell no lies!
 I'm Donald Gautreau, I'm not very meek,
 A nice hard tackle just makes my week!
 I'm Seth Willwerth, and when a run is intended,
 If they try my side, I'm offended!
 I'm Tom Bowen and I'm part of our line,
 Don't try to cross it if you want to feel fine!
 I'm Sean Mahoney, and I'll find a way
 To take my opponent and ruin his day!
 I'm Tony D'Ampolo and my favorite stunt
 Is to fall on the football when we block a punt!
 I'm Bob O'Hearn, and you should be talking
 To me when you need some help with your blocking!
 I'm Derek Maggiacomo, and I give out licks,
 Ask the other teams about my sticks!
 I'm Charles McDonald, you can call me Cliff,
 But get out of my way or you'll be sore and stiff!
 I'm Jeff Conn, and I think it's nice
 To make that ball carrier pay the price!
 I'm Tom Capachietti, and I play "D",
 I like to make contact, naturally!
 I'm Arthur Hitchman, and I'll leave you alone
 Unless you cross into my zone!
 I'm David Merrick, and I really like to hit,
 Don't run up the middle when I'm in the pit!
 I'm John Wells, the line's where I play,
 They try to get by me, but there's no way!
 Special thanks to the Pep Club for all the help we had.
 Without you guys this rally could never have been made.

FALL SPORTS RALLY

JAMBOREE

On September 11, 1987, dozens of Melrose High students packed the stands at the Wakefield Vocational field for the commencement of the varsity football season. There, teams from all over the area displayed their talents on the field in fifteen minute mini-games. During Melrose's bout with Somerville High, our team showed superior defense by denying the opposing team's attempts of scoring. Chad McGuire played a great role in this job by intercepting a pass, thus stopping a Somerville drive.

On the offensive side of the game, Derek Maggiacomo caught a thirteen yard pass to set up for the first touchdown of the season made by Vinnie Zingarello. The cheerleaders and enthusiastic MHS students roared their approval while the extra point was kicked, thus putting Melrose ahead by seven. It was a fantastic beginning for the 1987 football team, and a good indication of what was yet to come.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

Complete havoc breaks loose at the first senior class get together . . .

All was going well when someone made the fatal suggestion "Hey, let's have a class picture!" As the weight of the senior class was dispersed on top of four tables, a tremendous thud echoed through the cafeteria. Despite the minor setback, the uproarious spirit of the students carried on.

Steve Slaney, as the Stay-Puff Marshmallow Man, would have won the Most Elaborate Costume Award. Keith Woods would have easily been awarded Most Original as a wad of gum underneath a chair. Brian Murphy's Q-Tip and Kurt Mueller's Q-Tip box would have walked away with the Best team Award.

Other memorable costumes included: Jennifer Fresco, Michelle Connors, and Tracy Greenlaw as The Three Blind Mice, Kerry O'Leary as the McDonald's Hamburgler, Ms. Brian Ross, Jeff Conn, Brian Bemiss, Tom Bowen, Mike Kasprzak, and Bob O'Hearn as the Jackson Five.

. . . No deaths reported, cafeteria, surviving, and life calms down for MHS seniors . . . or does it?

JUNIOR PROM

*The Class of Nineteen hundred and eighty-eight of Melrose High School
requests the honour of your presence at their Junior Prom on Friday, the twenty-seventh of March nineteen hundred and eighty-seven at seven o'clock in the evening
Jimmy's Allenhurst
Danvers, Massachusetts*

The day was Friday, March twenty-seventh, the time was 7.30, and the Melrose High School class of 1988 realized that "We've Got Tonight."

As vanilla ice cream melted in the dishes, a kaleidoscope of colors filled the dance floor. Everyone was just trying to make it last—who needed tomorrow? The day had finally come when the two hundred dollars worth of prom apparel and the endless days of worry could be danced off.

Train Of Thought Five Minutes Before Your Prom Date Arrives

O.K. calm down . . . your stomach hurts because you haven't eaten in 37 hours--NOT because you're nervous. But don't even think of eating! Your dress will burst and you'll be standing there in a strapless bra and a petticoat when your date walks in, and then those twelve pounds you lost by living on water and melon will instantly return to add an extra jiggle to your Charleston. Worst of all you'll have the dreaded peanut butter breath all night.

Let's just keep busy. I know, I'll put another dent in the ozone layer by adding still another coat of hair spray. Should I brush my teeth again? One never knows how many bad breath molecules have collected in the last 3 minutes. No, my lipstick will smudge . . . I'll just sit.

No!! I'll wrinkle!! Pace, yes, good, I'll burn off calories while I wait . . . but then my dress won't fit exactly . . . I'll just stand perfectly still right here . . . great, there's a fly on my nose.

Now Mom and camera enter the room. Whoa! That flash is bright! This is followed by 20-such pictures which will be labeled ME GETTING READY.

Oh, don't cry, Mom. Yes, I know you remember your own prom, but you're ruining mine!

Uh-oh, is that a limo? I make a wobbly attempt down the stairs, due to three inch heels and the ghost of the KODAK flash in my eyes, to meet my date for "the most memorable evening of my life."

A TIME TO LAUGH

You're washing the car and suddenly a big bucket of warm, sudsy water is dumped over your head—what do you do?

You're walking in the mall and your friend slips in her new shoes and sprawls gracelessly into a Barbie display—what do you do?

You laugh! Let it ring out! Let it be heard by all the people around you who sit with a somber face and allow life to pass them by. Laugh when you see someone standing in line at the Burger King drive-thru. Don't hide your smiles when a carload of football players wink and whistle at you and your friends. And yes, laugh even when it's you who winds up in a crumpled heap amidst the Malibu Barbies and My Little Ponies.

Nothing brightens a room, a conversation, or a face more than a smile. One friend smirking at you from the hallway as you sit in your military-like French class can enlighten the day. For a while you forget the C- on your English essay; you forget that you have to work until ten.

Life is crazy, fast, and fun. You can be carefree. You may hear people condemning others for being light-hearted, but look at the people who scorn. Are they smiling? Do they have laugh lines around their mouths, or firm, set jaws and cool eyes?

The times that you remember most are the best times, the funniest times. When you look back on them, what are the first words out of your mouth? "I never laughed so hard . . ."

A TIME TO PANIC!

"Naw, I never panic. Me? Not me. Never! Well, okay, I admit it. I do, but only sometimes." For instance, it is five minutes before your date for the prom is supposed to arrive and you look in the mirror for a last minute check—only to be horrified! A spot has suddenly surfaced on your dress and toothpaste has mysteriously appeared in your hair. Or what about the night of the school play when, in a few hours, hundreds of people are going to be watching you. The big problem is that you are still trying to memorize the lines to that final scene. Another good time to panic is when you realize that tomorrow is the English test on Macbeth, only you are still on page three. You really tried, but every time you opened the book you fell asleep. Maybe, just maybe it was because you started reading at 1:00 a.m. "Well, it's Sunday night and that term paper is due tomorrow in A block. Time to panic? No, not me."

Dawn Killam suddenly remembers that her term paper is due next block

It dawns on Wally May that this is F Block, not E Block.

Erin Murphy cringes in fear as Mr. Allen passes out one of his famous scavenger hunts.

Bumpy Ride Expected

I've waited for this moment for sixteen years. The excitement is building; my mouth is dry; sticky perspiration forms on my palms.

It's my first driving lesson. I glance impatiently towards Melrose Street. "Come on, where are you? I want to get started!"

Suddenly, a car bearing the familiar Crescent Auto School sign pulls in. Finally! I'm on my way. No more standing outside Revere Cinema trying not to look like I'm waiting for Dad to come get me. Never again will I be trapped in the house like a baby in a playpen when my parents are out.

I rush happily to the car and get in. "O.K.," the teachers says. "Let's go." Proudly, I start the engine and accelerate. Nothing happens. "What's going on? This can't be happening! I took the classes. I know that a red light means stop and that I should always remove my seatbelt BEFORE getting out of the car. So what's wrong?"

Finally, I look questioningly at the instructor.

"Put it in drive," she says, rolling her eyes.

As the car lurches forward, I smile broadly, praying that she won't realize that I don't know where the brake is!

SAT'S

"When I say go, you may open your books and begin . . ."

Well, why isn't she saying go? She said she'd say go and then I could start. I need every second I can get for this test. Why won't she let me start? I've only spent one day a week for the past two months preparing for this. Why can't I just spit back all the information that I have crammed into my head? Why can't I just prove what I know? Maybe I'll sneak a peek, get a jump on the rest of them. Aha! There's one question with the word "and" in it. "And", I know that one! My future college life revolves around the next three hours of test-taking. These empty ovals are making me nervous. What if I mess up? What if I B instead of C. I wish I could just —

"Go!"

Amy Walsh—An example of what happens when two hours of studying suddenly flies out your ears.

LOVING MEMORY

*Do not stand at my grave
and weep.
I am not there. I do not sleep.
I am a thousand winds
that blow;
I am the diamond glints
on snow.
I am sunlight on ripened grain;
I am the gentle autumn's
rain.
When you awaken in the morning's hush,
I am the swift uplifting
rush
of quiet birds in circled flight.
I am the soft star that shines at night.
Do not stand at my grave
and cry.
I am not there.
I did not die.

ACTIVITIES

Leis, carnations, pints, balloons, and crepe paper. These represent the prominent activities organized by the MHS Student Congress. These activities include dances, parties, Carnation Day, and the Bloodmobile. Two great accomplishments of our Congress were the start of a Sophomore dance and the formation of the first Homecoming Day. The Student Congress is led by six class officers who make the high-powered decisions in the school. Hopefully the leadership of the Congress will be passed on to the underclassmen in years to come.

Andy Bagley, Sharon Fish, Jeannie MacDonald, Kara Martel, Jason Buggy and Ray Rocha

Senior class officers

Advisor Mr. Gillick, Kyle MacDonald, Michele Summers, Tom Hurley, Shane Rodriguez, Kevin Breen, Michele Pellegrino and Advisor Mrs. Kossuth.

Junior class officers

Advisor Mr. DeGeorge, Ken Solano, Kyle McManus, Mark Garipay, Maria D'Alelio, Phil Aylward, Stephen Fogarty, Alison McKenny and Advisor Mrs. Daley

National Honor Society

Front Row: Sarah Hurdle, Arian Boutwell, Lori DiLullo, Enrique Silva, Sara Cassidy, Mike Byrne, AmyBeth Donovan and Christine Chiminello. Back Row: Mary Wagner, Cheryl Hayes, Claudia Scapicchio, Ron Hogan, Tom Hurley, Maureen Hughes, Maura Walsh, Amy Carroll and Cheryl Goodwin.

When searching for the brightest minds of Melrose High, the Honor Society is the best place to begin. This group of scholars, under the leadership of President Sara Cassidy and Advisor Patrick Melvin, contributed to the intellectual standards both in the classroom and out. Paving the way for future inductees were Vice President Enrique Silva, Secretary Arian Boutwell, Treasurer Mike Byrne, and Sergeant at Arms Lori DiLullo.

JR./SR. CITIZEN'S FORUM

Front Row: Mr. John P. Smith, Mr. Russell A. Berg, Mr. Bob Hall, Ron Hogan, Mr. Morris Friedman, Ms. Mary Gullage, and Mr. Samuel Schapiro. Second Row: Advisor Mr. Freeman Frank, Dianne Groark, Monica Rowe, Becky Bell, Lori DiLullo, Arian Boutwell, Chrissy Veno, Enrique Silva and Jim Sullivan. Back Row: Wayne Willwerth, Derek Richards, Norman Solheid, Rob Durant and Brian Ross.

The Junior-Senior Citizen Forum, spearheaded by Mr. Freeman T. Frank, is composed of about thirty people. The age-range of the Forum runs the gamut from 13 years old to 94 years young. Started in December, 1978, the participants of the Forum meet every Thursday after school to discuss everything from the cleaning of Ell Pond to the Nuclear Arms Freeze. The Forum is enjoyed by all who participate. They share many ideas, knowledge and feelings. A strong bond of friendship is often developed between the young and the old. The Forum is, as Mr. Frank says, "... the best MHS experience in 33 years!"

STUDENT ADVISORY COMMITTEE SCHOOL COMMITTEE

According to the 1987 Amendment of Chapter 95, five students are to be elected to the school committee. These students represent the whole of the Melrose School System, K-12 in all meetings of the committee, except executive sessions.

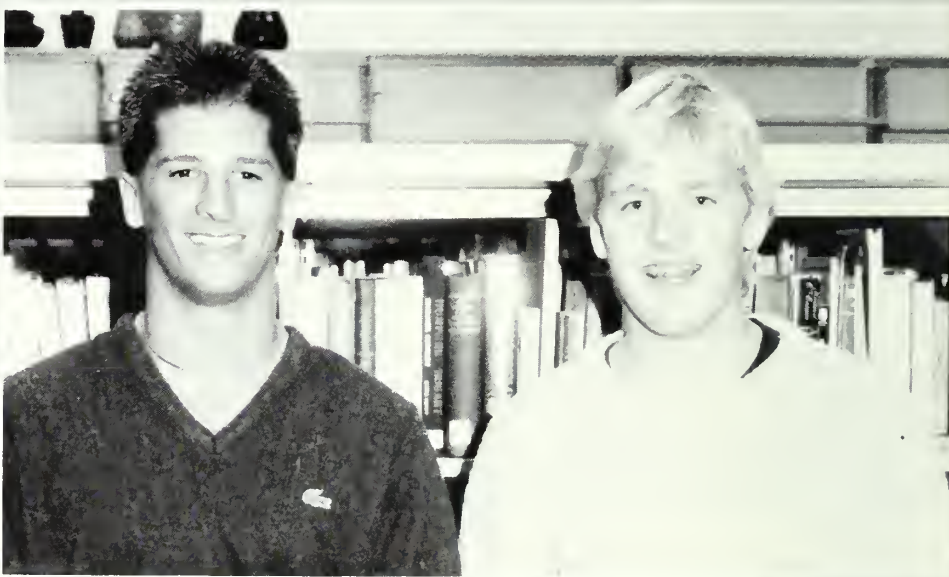

In the year of 1988 these five students worked to discourage other kids from drinking and other harmful activities by suggesting some good, interesting alternatives.

Kevin Breen, Stephen Fogarty, Chris Anderson, Arthur Hitchman and Kyle MacDonald.

STUDENT ADVISORY COMMITTEE STATE HOUSE

These students, elected by the student body, attend monthly meetings at the statehouse to discuss statewide issues. They also meet with other SAC members of their age group to think of ideas to better the school community. This is allotted for in Chapter 95 passed in 1972.

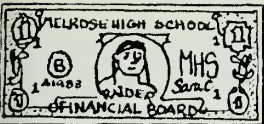

Tom Capachietti and Chris O'Leary

SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT

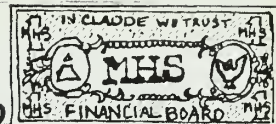

Since 1986, the Massachusetts Department of Education, has allotted 10 dollars per pupil for every school to use on school improvements. Presented to the school committee for approval in 1988 were a student copy machine and an enrichment program for which two guest speakers were scheduled. The committee that decides on this use of money consists of two students, two parents, two teachers, and Chairperson Claude H. Croston.

April Venuti and Shane Rodriguez

FINANCIAL BOARD

The Student Financial Board is an introductory step for the future business geniuses of America. Led by Claude Croston, these students discuss and approve the funds for all activities. These activities include language clubs, SADD, sports teams, and yes, even the work of art known as the MHS Log!

LAW CLUB

Headed by Mr. Richard Brown, the Law Club is made up of seniors interested in—you guessed it—LAW. The members attend court sessions in the spring where they observe the judicial system first-hand. Also, they plan "Law Career Day" where they discuss career opportunities with representatives of the FBI, Secret Service, state, metropolitan, and local police as well as with both prosecuting and defense attorneys.

LATIN CLUB

Under the direction of Ms. Werneth, the Latin club holds "regular" meetings when the spirit moves them. However, they do plan an annual Christmas party, a toga party and Carnaval (Lupercalia). In 1988 the club attended a showing of The Braggart Soldier. The club officers were: Consul Marlene Lauriat, Consul Paul McMahon, Aedile Kim Santagate, and Quaestor Wally May.

GERMAN CLUB

The success of the MHS GAPP Program is due largely to the members of the German Club. These students had, on more than one occasion, hosted German teenagers for several weeks. In return, a number of Melrose High students spent April in Hamburg. This exchange has provided the German Club with great new friends and special memories.

Other highlights include the championship volleyball team, Carnival, the dinner party at Julie Leydon's, and the extremely close presidential election which had to be re-voted three times.

The officers this year are: Sue Valley (President), Jennifer Johnson (Vice President), Anna Colletta (Treasurer), Kyle MacDonald (Secretary), Ted Jendrysik (Art Director) and Chris Lane and Jason Johnson (Staff).

Italian Club

What the Italian Club lacks in size, they make up for in fun. Most of the people in the club are of Italian descent so the traditions are shared. This year they were under the leadership of Il Duce Ms. Mariastella Dominianni, President Michele Pellegrino, Vice President Chrissy Brandano, Treasurer John Tirrell, and Secretary Joann Pellegrino. The Italians were defeated only by the Germans in the International Volleyball Tournament. Then on to the dining room, as the dessert party, pasta party, Christmas party, Mardi Gras, and the Barbeque took place. Boun Appetito.

SPANISH CLUB

The Melrose High School Spanish Club encourages students' interest in the Spanish language and culture through a variety of events and activities. Among the highlights of the 1987-1988 school year was the Spanish Club's participation in the annual foreign language clubs' volleyball tournament. A make-your-own taco party was another very successful event. The officers for the 1987-1988 Spanish Club were: Dennis Hurley, President; Amy Carroll, Vice President; Michael Kennedy and Richard Riccardi, Co-Secretaries; and Keith Willwerth, Treasurer

French Club

The French Club, headed by Mrs. Dooley, has had a very active year. They were very competitive in the International Volleyball Tournament. They were undefeated until they met their Waterloo in a tough game against the Italians. Besides volleyball, the club schedules a dessert party, a Christmas party, Mardi Gras, an a Barbeque with the main focus being on FOOD. The French Club was led by President Enrique Silva, Vice-President Kerry O'Leary, Treasurer Michele Lord, Arts Secretary Sara Cassidy, and Corresponding Secretary Cheryl Goodwin.

IMPRINT

The Imprint, the MHS newspaper, informs the student body of current events both inside and outside of school. This publication contains information articles and editorials which try to express the opinions of the students. The paper sums up what has happened to our school and students during the previous weeks. Under the supervision of Mr. Poulos, the informal but responsible staff produces this publication nearly every month. The staff enjoys the newspaper and claims that it is a valuable writing experience.

In the spring of 1987, English teacher Nancy Arena decided to revive the Thistle, a literary magazine that had been dormant for ten years. A notice requesting creative work was sent out to all English teachers. The staff then got to work and created a magazine of short stories, poems, and pictures to be sold in the spring. Thistle hopes to gain a greater following in future years and enjoy a long life at Melrose High.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

With cameras snapping the Photography Club descended on Rockport in the early fall of 1987. They then spent many classroom hours developing and printing their pictures. In the spring, club members loaded up again and headed to Boston for a day. After taking out enough time to print these pictures, the club began setting up a photography show. They displayed their photographing techniques on bulletin boards in the cafeteria. The students 'shutter' to think of life without the Photography Club.

When MHS students hear squeaks, pings, and high C's, they can be sure that it is the orchestra practicing for one of their many events. The orchestra, conducted by Mrs. Mary Weeks, performs three beautiful concerts during each year, one at Christmastime, one in the winter, and one in the spring. They also play for many school functions such as GAPP night, 9th grade recognition night, the National Honor Society induction, and the musical. Another special event in which some of the orchestra participated was a trip to Amherst College for a musical convention where they performed with professionals. The orchestra worked hard, had a very rewarding year, and has high hopes for years to come.

Melrose High School Band

The Melrose High School Band really did itself proud this year. For the first time ever, it co-hosted a competition with Malden at Malden Stadium. The band came home from M.I.C.A. with one of the highest scores that Melrose has ever received. It all began in late August at "Band Camp" when everyone sacrificed their last summer days to pursue a perfect mark-time and high step. Once mastered, the show began, measure by measure-Ugh! However, it was all worth it once halftime began and the eyes of the crowd turned to the band. It was a feeling that no MHS member will ever forget.

Here are some other things that never will be forgotten—honestly some of them will haunt you in your dreams, "One more time . . .", trying to get your chops to work again, all the friends you made, six hour rehearsals, performing on "our field!", Throwdown, Jesus Christ Superstar, and Somewhere Out There, "Let's run it . . .", two days till competition and we're still out of step!, "WE HAVE A SHOW!", third at Winthrop!, Sullivan Stadium for M.I.C.A., Melrose High School Band, you may enter the field in . . . evaluation?, the burning of the show, but where are the Twinkies? ! ?, Thanksgiving game, Awards Dinner, Santa Parade, and Pops Concert. What a great group of seniors !!! Good luck to the underclassmen.

Colorguard

One component of the MHS Band is the Colorguard, which is a combination of the flag and rifle squads. Unlike the majorettes who perform with a smile, the colorguard is stricter and more military-like. Their main goal is synchronization—synchronization with each other, the band, and the music. This comes only by practicing at least four times a week during marching season.

Although strict on the field, the colorguard does not lack its fun times and successes. This year there were the three stars at MICA (and that was on Astro-Turf!), the endless practices, lunch breaks during Saturday practices, Awards night, Band Camp and double sessions, Friday night games, GJKGWLY; LHC, finally getting a rifle squad, and San Diego, "No drops !!!", "One more time from the top!", "Yes, another change!", "Are we having fun yet? !?", and the everlasting words of wisdom, "At least look like you know what you're doing!"

Majorettes

Many do not realize it, but the MHS Majorettes are a group that practices separately from the Band. Of course, they add a lot in the half-time performances, but the Majorettes continue working long after "marching season" is over. They work for success in their own competitions. This year, the Majorettes performed in several competitions and even hosted one here in Melrose.

It was a year of transition. Most majorettes were underclassmen who were building their memories while the upperclassmen finished building theirs. They will always remember: Guide! pregnant lady, practicing and performing in the rain, the new unitards and wondering, "How can you wear them?", "Will the shirts stay on?", Competition—"The audition" and San Diego. Thanks to Diane and good luck next year.

JAZZ ROCK BAND

Jazz Rock Band is a collaboration of saxaphones, trumpets, trombones, bass, piano, and drums that rehearse every Tuesday night. The season's finale is a dance where the players are given the opportunity to show off their given talents to the public. Although the members have been known to be a little over-enthusiastic, the capable leadership of Mr. DeGiacomo has led the group to many successful performances.

CHORUS

Many students will find themselves leaving high school with some very fond memories of their time in the Chorus. Being in this group allows many to just be themselves and experience expression through music. This year's seniors will remember: Disneyworld and Washington, Christmas and Spring concerts, songs at graduation, Citrus sales, candy sales, "Don't eliminate yourself!", Up With People, "Don't you look NICE today!", dress rehearsals where we finally got together as a group. Thanks so very very much to Mr. You Know Who, who doesn't like to have his name mentioned.

The Ski Club, supervised by Mr. Paula, consists of Melrose High students who participate in MHS sponsored trips to ski areas around the world. Some of the trips included: Burke, Jay Peak, and Stow in Vermont, Loon, Cannon, Bretton Woods, and Wildcat in New Hampshire, and Sugarloaf in Maine. In the 1985-86 season, the club traveled to Austria to ski the Alps. Many students are in the club but not all go on every trip. The most students ever on one trip was one hundred ten. Each student must pay his own way, but all are invited to join in any trip.

BRITISH TRAVEL CLUB

The British Travel Club, under supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Poulos, spent 10 wonderful April days on the Green Islands of Great Britain. The lucky travellers explored the back roads of London and sampled the wares of the pubs, the woolen mills, and Harrod's. The explorers communed with Shakespeare in Stratford-on-Avon, immersed themselves in the intellectual atmosphere of Oxford, and in 1988 the tour included the added bonus of a dream trip to Melrose, Scotland. The hearty travelers had a bloody good time.

Bridging The Gapp

This past year at Melrose High School an important event took place. Twenty students from Hamburg, Germany, came to stay with American families for one month, a program which has been occurring bi-annually for the last twenty years. The German American Partnership Program (GAPP), under the supervision of its organizer and founder, Dr. Phyllis Dragonas, was a huge success for everyone involved. Even those who were not in the program found it to be an interesting experience.

The Germans enjoyed living the life of an American student for a month, while the Americans enjoyed the chance to learn a little bit of European culture. It seems necessary to put in some memories of the program, just in case this book falls on your head twenty years from now as you reach for those shoes stuck way in the back of that top shelf of your closet. Remember: being instant friends at the airport, fitting as many as possible on that golf cart at the Mt. Hood picnic, the Germans getting yelled at for staying an extra hour at the Museum of Science, that glimpse of Americana at Sturbridge Village, the good times at Hamburg Night, and "Kartoffel mel!" Makes you feel like a kid again, doesn't it?

The students who participated in the program had the chance to learn more about Germany and to take part in a once-in-a-lifetime experience. Those who weren't involved directly will remember bridging a gap of their own. Although no one may have realized it at the time, all have helped to promote a little understanding, as well as having some fun with new friends from another place.

ODYSSEY OF THE MIND

Odyssey of the Mind (formerly Olympics of the Mind) is a world-wide organization designed to promote creative thinking and problem solving. The participants in Melrose are divided into groups according to age and are presented with a problem. They have the entire year to work on it, and then they must present their solution in dramatic form at a competition each spring. The primary goal of this group is to promote teamwork. This teamwork payed off in 1987 with a win in the states and fifteenth place in the world competition. That was quite a feat for a first year club!

CHESS CLUB

The MHS Chess Club competes in the West Division of the North Shore Interscholastic Chess League. Advisor Mr. DeGeorge lead the team through an interesting season. A second place or better finish in the division means a spot in the league playoffs. The 1988 team had many talented new players making it a stronger force than in past years.

STUDENTS AGAINST DRIVING DRUNK *

SADD, Students Against Driving Drunk, is by far the largest club in Melrose High. Their main focus is on student/parent awareness throughout the community. SADD members traditionally decorate the cafe and school for Halloween, appoint peer leaders, and present a program for MHS prom goers.

This year, under the leadership of presidents Alison Brown, Sara Cassidy, and advisors Richard Brown, Bruce MacPherson and Mr. Hassett, SADD instated two new programs for alcohol awareness. They distributed Dum-Dums to the seniors before the Halloween party and offered a chance to send Christmas candy canes to a friend. Hopefully, these newfound traditions will stick and make alcohol related accidents in Melrose non-existent.

BLOODMOBILE

When the Red Cross Bloodmobile came to MHS, many courageous Junior and Senior volunteers got a chance to prove that they were really heroes. Whether the attraction was cookies and juice, the desire to skip class, or the need for the unselfish feeling of giving, many turned out to donate blood to the Red Cross. Because of the help of MHS students, the blood can now be used to save lives.

GO TEAM! PEP CLUB RED RAIDERS!

With the help of their advisor Mr. Hodgkins, the Pep Club promotes school spirit throughout MHS. Their main job is to make posters and decorate the cafe before games. At football games, they are a major part of the yelling and cheering from the Melrose side. The officers are Liz Bagley and Kerry Tighe as Co-Presidents, Tracey Kehoe as Vice President, AmyBeth Donovan as Assistant Advisor, Joy O'Connor as Secretary, Julie Fennell as Treasurer, Sandra Nealon as Art Director, and Judi Limone and Carolyn Connelly as Representatives.

This year an Amnesty International chapter was established at MHS. Amnesty International is a worldwide organization that works to secure non-violence. The members write letters to high ranking officials of foreign governments asking for the immediate and unconditional release of all prisoners of conscience. This is a major part of their work here at MHS.

PROJECT BREAD

Project Bread is a very diverse club whose chief goal is to raise money for the hungry in and around Boston. Members choose from making and selling food, coaxing classmates to sponsor the bike-a-thon, making signs and selling tickets to the annual movie. Project Bread is very much a part of the Christmas spirit at Melrose High. Much of its work is done in the cafeteria, making hearts and hungry stomachs more eager to help.

AVIATION CLUB

The Aviation Club had a very active year. The members took field trips to the Museum of Science's Omni Theater and were given an extensive tour of the Pease Air Force Base. One of the highlights of the 1987-88 year was a trip to the Lawrence Airport. There they were able to spend the day flying Cessna planes.

The officers were: President Kerry Tighe, Vice President Ken Ross, Secretary Matt Joyce, Treasurer Pam Alton, and Advisor Mr. Dodge.

D·R·A·M·A

Lights, camera, action—drama. Drama, under the direction of Mrs. Beliveau, had a terrific year full of activities. The fall production, To Gillian On Her 37th Birthday, entered competition in February at the Massachusetts Drama Festival. The students also learned techniques by seeing plays at the Huntington Theater and Boston Youth Theater. One of the highlights of the year was the Shakespearean Competition where many students from MHS Drama competed with other students from Massachusetts. In the spring there was an emphasis on performing short scenes, which were directed mostly by the students. Is Broadway in their future—who knows?

Special Needs Christmas Party

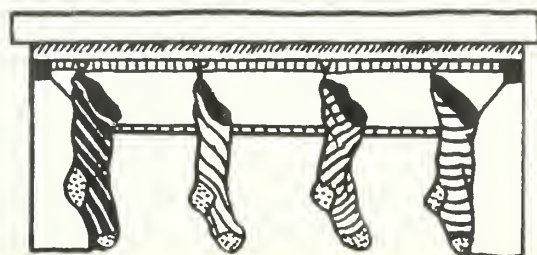

At Christmas time 1988, a party was thrown for some very special kids. For the seventh year in a row, Melrose High School hosted a Christmas party for the children who participate in the special needs program. The party was coordinated by Rosemary McGrath of the Parent Pupil Services, but her two associates Ms. Eason and Mr. Hasset are the ones with whom the volunteers have had the most contact.

Everyone involved put a lot of work into the party. The Brass Ensemble played Christmas carols, the Chorus sang, and the cheerleaders put on a show. Many student volunteers helped to serve refreshments—even some cookies were baked in the cooking classes. The big event of the day came with the arrival of Santa Claus, and you know the kids enjoyed that! Everyone's effort helped to make the party a big success.

Powder Puff (14-0)

The score was zero to zero. Kim Denehy, of the Red Devils, dashed down the field for the first touchdown. Their luck seemed to continue throughout the game. Tonya Turner scrambled for the second touchdown. The team made the two point conversion with a spectacular catch by Kim Denehy.

The Red Devils weren't the only ones doing all the work. Tania Wadland, of the White Angels, caught a pass and gained twenty yards. Ellen Tobey intercepted a Red Devils pass. The White team's strong point was their defensive line. The Whites just seemed to plow the Reds down. Judi Limone displayed the White's prowess by ripping off the Quarterback's, Kim Denehy's, flag twice, without giving her time to react.

The cheerleaders kept everyone smiling with their short skirts, caked on makeup, and various cheers. They even succeeded in making a pyramid. The problem was that they couldn't figure out how to get down and ended up crashing on top of one another.

After the game, the Reds and the Whites all hugged each other and laughed together. Even though the Devils won, there were no hard feelings between the two teams.

Homecoming

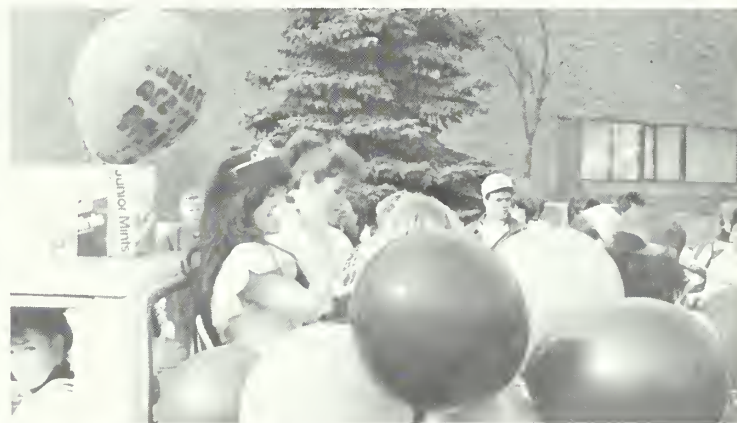

Throughout much of September, rumors had been going around the school about Homecoming day. They were confirmed early in October by a front-page story in The Imprint, in which Mr. Croston and Shane Rodriguez both discussed plans for the events.

From that point on, the school was in a perpetual state of excitement and anticipation. After all, the then undefeated Red Raiders football team would be playing against Reading at home. Four varsity-alumni games, in volleyball, field hockey, and boys' and girls' soccer, were scheduled. And, of course, there would be a parade with floats made by the junior and senior classes.

The parade was graced with the juniors' float creation—The Junior Mints, and the senior's own idea—a Red Raider float. A vision dressed in white, with a tiara atop her flowing black hair, rode the junior float. It turned out to be Tom Boucher—the class' answer to a Homecoming Queen. The floats, along with the cheerleaders and city officials, paraded down Main Street, while the band played "Roll On Red Raiders" and "Give a Cheer for Dear Old Melrose."

In the Daffinee Gym, the varsity-alumni volleyball game took place. Actually, it was more of a varsity game, since the participants were mainly juniors and seniors. However, excitement was high and everyone involved had fun. The football game against Reading was played on Monday instead of Homecoming Day. Maybe it was a bit smaller than all the hype had promised. Still, a lot of school spirit, and maybe even civic pride, was displayed and everyone had proved that Homecoming Day could be done.

CLASS~WILL

The senior class of 1988, being of reasonably sound mind and fairly sound body would like to leave the following to those who are left behind:

A copy of the movie SHANE to our most esteemed principal, Mr. Croston.

Four born again tables to the Halloween party committee. OOPS

Second Hill to Sheffield Heights Condominiums.

A case of Aqua Net hairspray to the 1988 juniors.

Last but not least, we leave our most beloved first floor to the up and coming.

I, Patrice Ambrogne, leave my locker to Joy Cammarata.

I, Laura Anastas, leave my best of luck to the Field Hockey Team.

I, Amy Anderson, leave "a tone" to Brian Ciovo.

I, Meredith Armstrong, leave my overall obnoxious attitude to the MHS Volleyball Team.

I, Robert Azevedo, leave my free lunch pass to Peter Maniaci.

I, Joanna Bannen, leave my Latin homework to Jenn Landry.

I, Kim Bailey, leave my sympathy to my sister Sarah.

I, Brian Bemiss, leave my right eye to Joe Mercer (Cooaka).

I, Aimee Boston, leave my hopes for good luck for my sister Laura.

I, Tom Bowen, leave my remarks to the Fly Girls.

I, Jerry Boyd, leave Magic Johnson basketball to Steve Cronan.

I, Christine Brandano, leave my walkman and Bon Jovi taped to Jen Pitzl on the volleyball bus.

I, Eric Bremberg, leave my supply of No-doz to Jim Cummings.

I, Heidi Brennan, leave my student ID card to an unlucky underclassman.

I, Suzanne Brennan, leave hugs to Bethany Constantino.

I, Theresa Buckley, leave all the luck in the world to my cousin Fusey (Love ya huh).

I, Bob Camberlain, leave my advice ("While you can -- have a blast cause it all goes by too fast.") to everyone.

I, Lyn Camelio, leave all the good and bad times to Nicole Desisto.

I, Judy Camuso, leave Bessey and the Dolby sound machine to Jen Kelley cause she's in it anyway.

I, Tom Capachietti, leave my car and parking space to my brother Dave.

I, Sara Cassidy, leave Birnham Wood to Mr. Poulos.

I, Scott Chapman, leave my love to Mrs. L.

I, Christine Chiminello, leave my locker to Amy Chiminello.

 I, Glenn Wortman, leaves "A's" to the Jolly Juniors.
 I, Vincent Zingariello, leave my old car to that lady on Route 3.

Top Left: Kenny Tango tries his hardest to see the picture of a face implanted on the ceiling, while trying not to look foolish at the same time. Top Center: The aroma of Friday's pizza brings Henry Collins out of his reverie. Top Right: Joe Meehan, "Could you run that by me one more time?" Upper Middle Left: Erika Scarborough is saddened by the weight of her bookbag. Upper Middle Center: Dan Fusco is desperately trying to read the print on the desk. Upper Middle Right: Dave Pothier feeling of doom increases as he approaches his math class. Lower Middle Left: Patrice Savage attempts to conceal the fact that Mr. Melvin has chalk dust on his nose. Lower Middle Center: Kevin Sherman, "Yes, I did get an A!" Lower Middle Right: Rob Thibault slyly offers the photographer five dollars if he finishes his homework for him. Far Left: Carol Nichols, "You didn't just take my picture, did you?" Left: Aimee Boston realizes that the "little run" in her nylons has now reached her ankles. Above: Sean Roberts tries to talk his homeroom teacher out of giving him his fourth late slip.

CARNATION DAY

On February 11, 1988, the halls of Melrose High School were filled with bright smiles, heartfelt thank yous, and, of course, hundreds of colorful carnations. One week before, Melrose High students had crowded outside the cafe, purchasing heart after heart for their friends and special someones. This day will always be a favorite at MHS. It gives people a chance to show their appreciation and kindness toward their closet friends.

IT'S SHOW TIME!!

Every December, students of MHS put their singing and acting abilities to the test to audition for the spring musical. Once the cast is chosen, the group begins weeks of exhausting rehearsals—all working towards the final product of a good show. The last three shows have been Fiddler On The Roof (1986), Annie Get Your Gun (1987), and Bye Bye Birdie (1988). Special appreciation goes to Mr. Messina who is the backbone of the whole production. Under his direction, students become involved in an excellent educational experience in music and theater. However, it is not only those who appear on stage who make the show. Students and adults from all over the city help with lighting, sound, props, costuming, make-up, set construction, painting, publicity, tickets, or play in the pit orchestra. During the show, many friendships develop from the closeness and unity of the cast and crew.

Top: The cast of Fiddler on the Roof discuss the fact that they have no fiddles. Upper Right: The Indians of Annie Get Your Gun are professionals. . . please do not attempt this dance at home. Lower Right: Bye Bye Birdie seniors say "Hello hello, Conrad!" Above: Chris Kerry and Bob Cargill are happy in finding the world's greatest hide and seek hiding spot. Right: C'mon Sara Cassidy, put on a happy face!! Far Right: The cast decides to amuse themselves with a group sing-a-long.

The main characters in Fiddler on the Roof were: Tevye—Keith Woods, Golde—Marlene Cerulli, Tzeitel—Frances Donovan, Hodel—Helena Oliveira, Chava—Andrea Pecci, Yente—Eugenica Vagianos, Motel—Mark Ballard, Perchik—Chris Hornbarger, Sasha—David Sullivan, Froma Sarah—Lisa LeBlanc. The cast of Annie Get Your Gun was: Frank Butler—Darren Clark, Annie Oakley—Kim MacPherson, Buffalo Bill—John Adams, Sitting Bull—Ben Smith, Charlie Davenport—Derek Gerry, Dolly Tate—Marlene Cerulli, Mr. Wilson—Michael Grogan. The characters in Bye Bye Birdie were: Albert Peterson—John Murphy, Rosie—Lori DiLullo, Kim—Amy Kimball, Conrad Birdie—Enrique Silva, Mr. MacAffee—Colin Buckley, Mrs. MacAffee—Kim MacPherson, Mrs. Peterson—Helena Oliveira, Hugo—Rob Durant, Ursula—Paula Oliveira.

Top Left: For the first time in hours, these actors can recite their lines in costume without giggling. Top Right: Keith Woods and Helena Oliveira, "Oh please, please... uh... tell me my next line." Middle Left: Mr. Poulos goes through plastic surgery to have wrinkles added? Middle Center: Joe Appleyard and Chris Guarente are disappointed to be drinking apple juice rather than champagne. Upper Middle Right: Kim MacPherson decides that this show biz stuff is pretty fun after all. Above: The Ghost of Christmas Past realizes that he has materialized into the wrong musical. Lower Middle Left: John Murphy, Conrad's manager, shows Birdie how a high note should really sound. Far Left: Pam Muse displays how makeup can enhance your beauty. Near Left: The attack of the Killer Indian Zombies!

NO TIME AT ALL

*There is the time of work,
 The work of life, of school, of tasks unending.
 There is the time of rest,
 To cut loose from thought, to empty the mind, and to drift.
 There is the time to run,
 To race from one thing to another, never stopping in between.
 There is the time of sleep,
 To cease to be for a while, to brace for a new day.
 But what of the time of self,
 To be, to contemplate, to think of your existence . . .
 To be for a time, alone, undisturbed?
 To try to see more clearly just what it is you are.
 But no, there is none of that kind of time.
 No time at all.*

Top Left: Kevin Taber thanks God that it's Friday. Top Left Center: Claudia Scapicchio resists the urge to stick out her tongue. Top Right Center: Lyn Camelio longs for naptime. Top Right: Saeid Chaharom takes first place in a "sinister look" contest. Upper Middle Left: Steve Spinosa grimaces at Mondays in general. Upper Middle Center: Matt Pecci and John Downey mellow out after a tough swimming victory. Upper Middle Right: Dale MacDonald and Renee Chappel show that they are too mature as seniors for "rabbit ears." Middle Left: Kevin Sherman has just realized that the stuff at the bottom of his locker now has a pulse! Middle Left Center: Kevin Robertson emphatically tries to raise only one eyebrow. Middle Right Center: Joe Verity thoughtfully considers leaving class for Burger King. Middle Right: Susan Strunk insists that she is smiling. Lower Middle Left: Debbie Hennigan looks less than thrilled that it is only A block. Lower Middle Center: Carolyn Connelly: "Naw, that camera isn't really on!" Above: Mike McCormack and David Merrick, loiter on the corner of Broadway and Pi Alley. Near Right: Kerri MacEachern tries to nap while Kerri Donahoe discreetly nudges her awake. Far Right: Cindy Butler shows off her new eyeshadow.

DEDICATION

Choosing who to dedicate this yearbook to is perhaps the easiest task which faced us all year. It is only right that the 1988 edition of the Melrose High School LOG be dedicated to Mr. Gary Hart, our yearbook advisor.

Working on the yearbook with Mr. Hart, one would perhaps find it difficult to believe that he is also a coach, a father, and of course, a teacher. One of the most admirable things about him is his energy level; it does not change from one activity to the next.

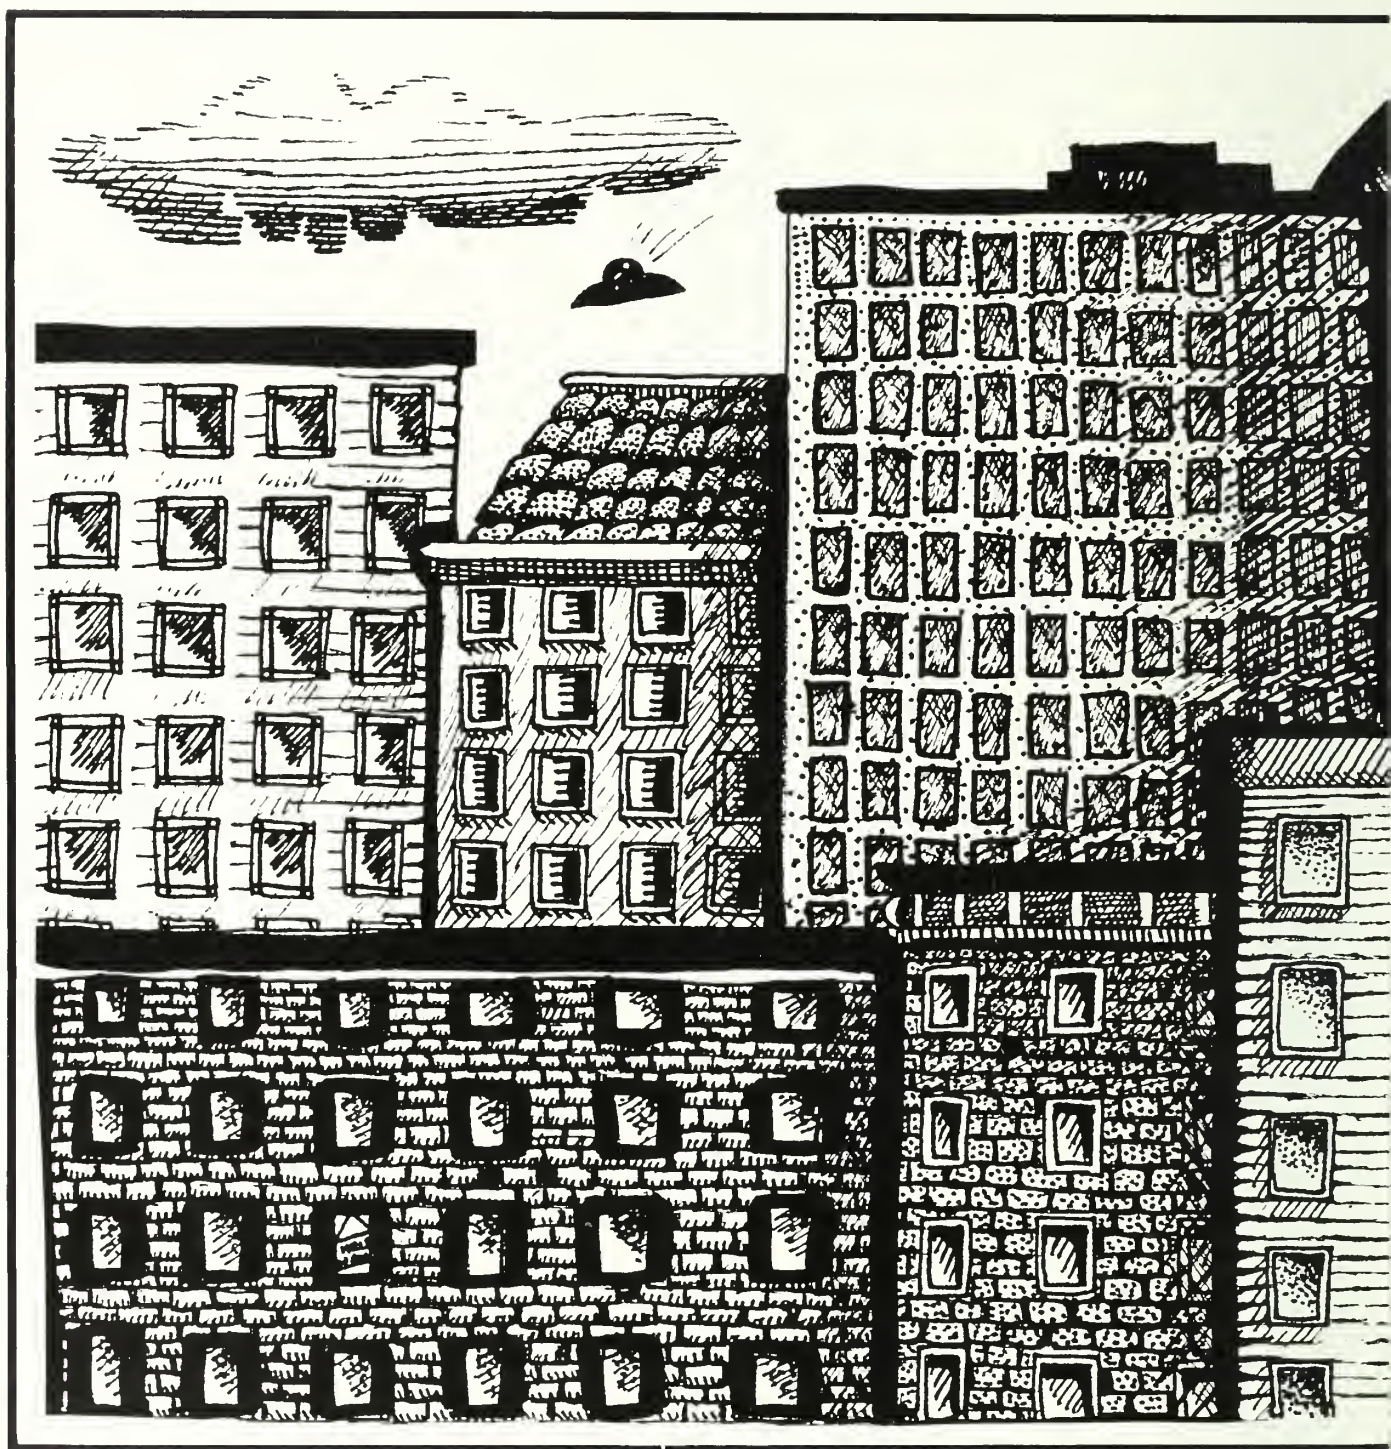

Some might think it odd that we chose to honor someone so new to our school, yet if anyone deserves recognition, it is Mr. Hart for his efforts as LOG advisor. He infused our staff with his enthusiasm from the beginning to the end of production. Our product is something Mr. Hart himself likes to call a 'new' book—a definite original. We believe it could not have been produced without him.

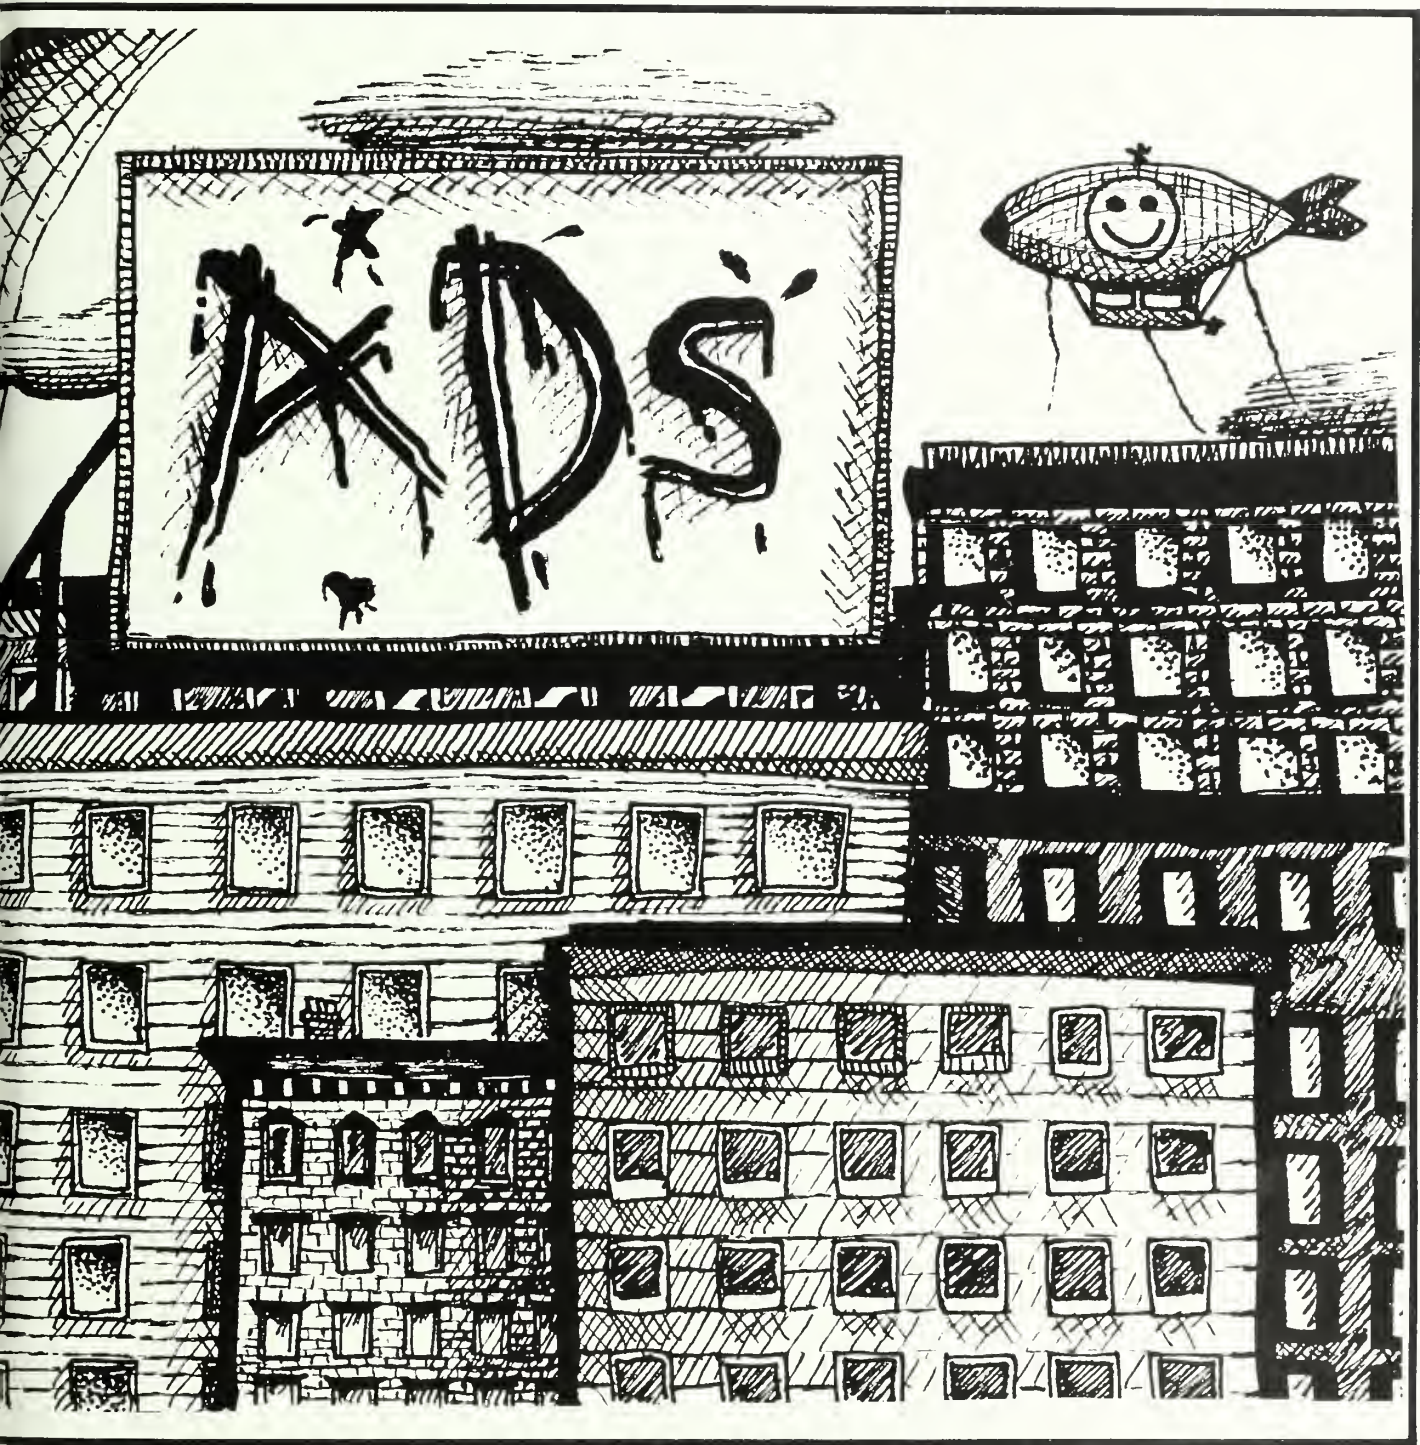

Mr. Gary Hart is an honorable man, and the Class of 1988 will never forget all of the lessons he taught us.

Thank you, Mr. Hart!

SOMETIME

*Sometime, when you're feeling important
Sometime, when your ego's in bloom
Sometime, when you take it for granted
You're best qualified in the room
Sometime, when you feel that your going
Would leave an infillable hole-
Just follow this simple instruction
And see how it humbles your soul
Take a bucket and fill it with water
Put your hand in it up to your wrist*

Good Luck To Maureen And The Class Of 1988

*Pull it out and the hole that is remaining
Is a measure of how you'll be missed
You may splash all you please when you enter
You can stir up the water galore
But stop and you'll find in a minute
That it looks quite the same as before.*

*The moral in this great example
Is, do just the best that you can
Be proud of yourself but remember
There's no indispensable man.*

NOW ENTERING ITS THIRD YEAR
AN EXCITING, ESSENTIAL CAMPUS SERVICE

RENT-A-DWEEB

*Are you having academic problems?
Would you rather go to parties than study?
Do you just need a break?*

Now you can raise your G.P.A. and secure the future you want.

We are a growing campus organization that was created two years ago to fill a large void in the education of MHS students. In the old days, students at the school had to study long hours, many times giving up an entire weekend just to maintain a B average. Now that doesn't have to be.

Rent-A-Dweeb makes hours in the library obsolete!

Available Dweebs:

	Price Per Hour
Chemistry Dweeb	$10.00
Physics Dweeb	$10.00
Political Science Dweeb	$ 2.00
Engineering Dweeb	$ 9.00
English Dweeb	$ 7.00
Biology Dweeb	$ 8.00
Cognitive Science Dweeb	?
*What is it anyway?
Computer Science Dweeb	NO CHARGE

Please add $2.00 for test taking dweebs and $1.00 for lab dweebs. Also, paper writing dweebs cost an additional 50¢ per page.

Meals for the dweebs are appreciated, but as you know, they don't require study breaks.

LOG '88

HEY GANG- WE HAVE DONE SOMETHING REALLY GREAT HERE, AND WE BROKE THE TRADITIONS OF THE PAST AND THE MOLD FOR THE FUTURE IN THE PROCESS. IT TOOK SO MUCH HARD WORK TO PRODUCE THE "LOG", IT IS UNBELIEVABLE THAT IT'S OVER. EVERYONE THAT HAS WORKED ON IT DESERVES TO KNOW WHAT AN EXCELLENT JOB THEY'VE DONE (YOU CAN PAT YOURSELF ON THE BACK NOW!) THANKS TO EVERYONE FOR THEIR COOPERATION, ESPECIALLY THE FACULTY (GREAT ONCE THEY REALIZED WE WERENT DELINQUENTS BENT ON CUTTING CLASSES) AND ALL OF OUR FAMILIES. ARE WE PROUD? YOU BET YOUR SWEET SEAT WE ARE!

NO ARTICLE WOULD BE COMPLETE WITHOUT A COMPILATION OF MEMORIES SO HERE WE GO! "SECRETS", 8:00 AM SUMMER MEETINGS, "MELUKAIKIMIKA", "SHROOMS", THE PELLET GUN, SOCCER MOVIE?, G. HART DESIGNER CLOTHING, WHOSE TURN TO CLEAN?, "ORGANISM" NOSES, 'YOU A TURTLE? 1-800-BUY-A-GEEK, TENLEY ART, NICKLE FUND, JOANNA'S TRASHY LIT, PIZZA COLLECTION, SUE THE NAVIGATOR AND THE MACDONALDLAND DASH, ARIAN'S BLUE PASS, WINDOW WARS, W+W GET CAUGHT, CHICKEN POX?! HOW TALL IS HE? NO BANGIN', BOOZIN', GROSSIN', CRUISIN', TOKIN OR POKIN'. WE LOVE YOU ALL. THANKS MR. HART.

PHOTOGRAPHY

I WANT TO THANK MY PHOTOGRAPHY STAFF FOR THEIR OUTSTANDING WORK AND DEDICATION THIS YEAR. THEY MANAGED TO FILL UP THE BOOK WITH GREAT PHOTOS IN SPITE OF SUCH OBSTACLES AS BROKEN CAMERAS AND FILM SHORTAGES, NOT TO MENTION POSSIBLE INJURY OCCURING WHILE SHOVING A CAMERA IN SOMEONE'S FACE. THANK YOU FOR ALL THE TIME AND EFFORT PUT INTO THE BOOK, I GREATLY APPRECIATE ALL THE WORK, AND IN MY OPINION, EVERY SENIOR IN THIS SCHOOL OWES THEIR FUTURE MEMORIES TO YOU.

TYPING

THANKS TO OUR
TYPING AND COMPUTER

The Log

Before we turn the final page, there are a few (quite a few!) people whom we have to thank. First of all, we'd like to thank the secretaries who always went out of their way to help us: Ms. Lois Lockhead, Ms. Susan Cochrane, Ms. Virginia Colbert, Ms. Kathleen Gomes, Ms. Mary McLean, Ms. Linda Norris, Ms. Jacqueline Northrup, and our "Ace," Ms. Mildred Fisher. Thank you, Mr. Smith-Valley and Mr. and Mrs. Carroll, for the photocopying, collating, and envelope stuffing that they did for us. Many thanks, Mr. Tom Keeley and Mr. Terry Bleiler, for your expertise which added so much to The '88 LOG.

We'd like to express our thanks to the whole faculty who have been really great this year. We appreciate the times that you excused us from class so that we could make our deadlines. Thanks again to Mrs. Moulaison, Mrs. Hooton, and their typing classes who helped when it came time to type those profiles.

Thank you, MR. JAY "We didn't forget you" MARTIN, for all those lists you printed for us. Thanks, Mrs. Katz, for putting up with our noise.

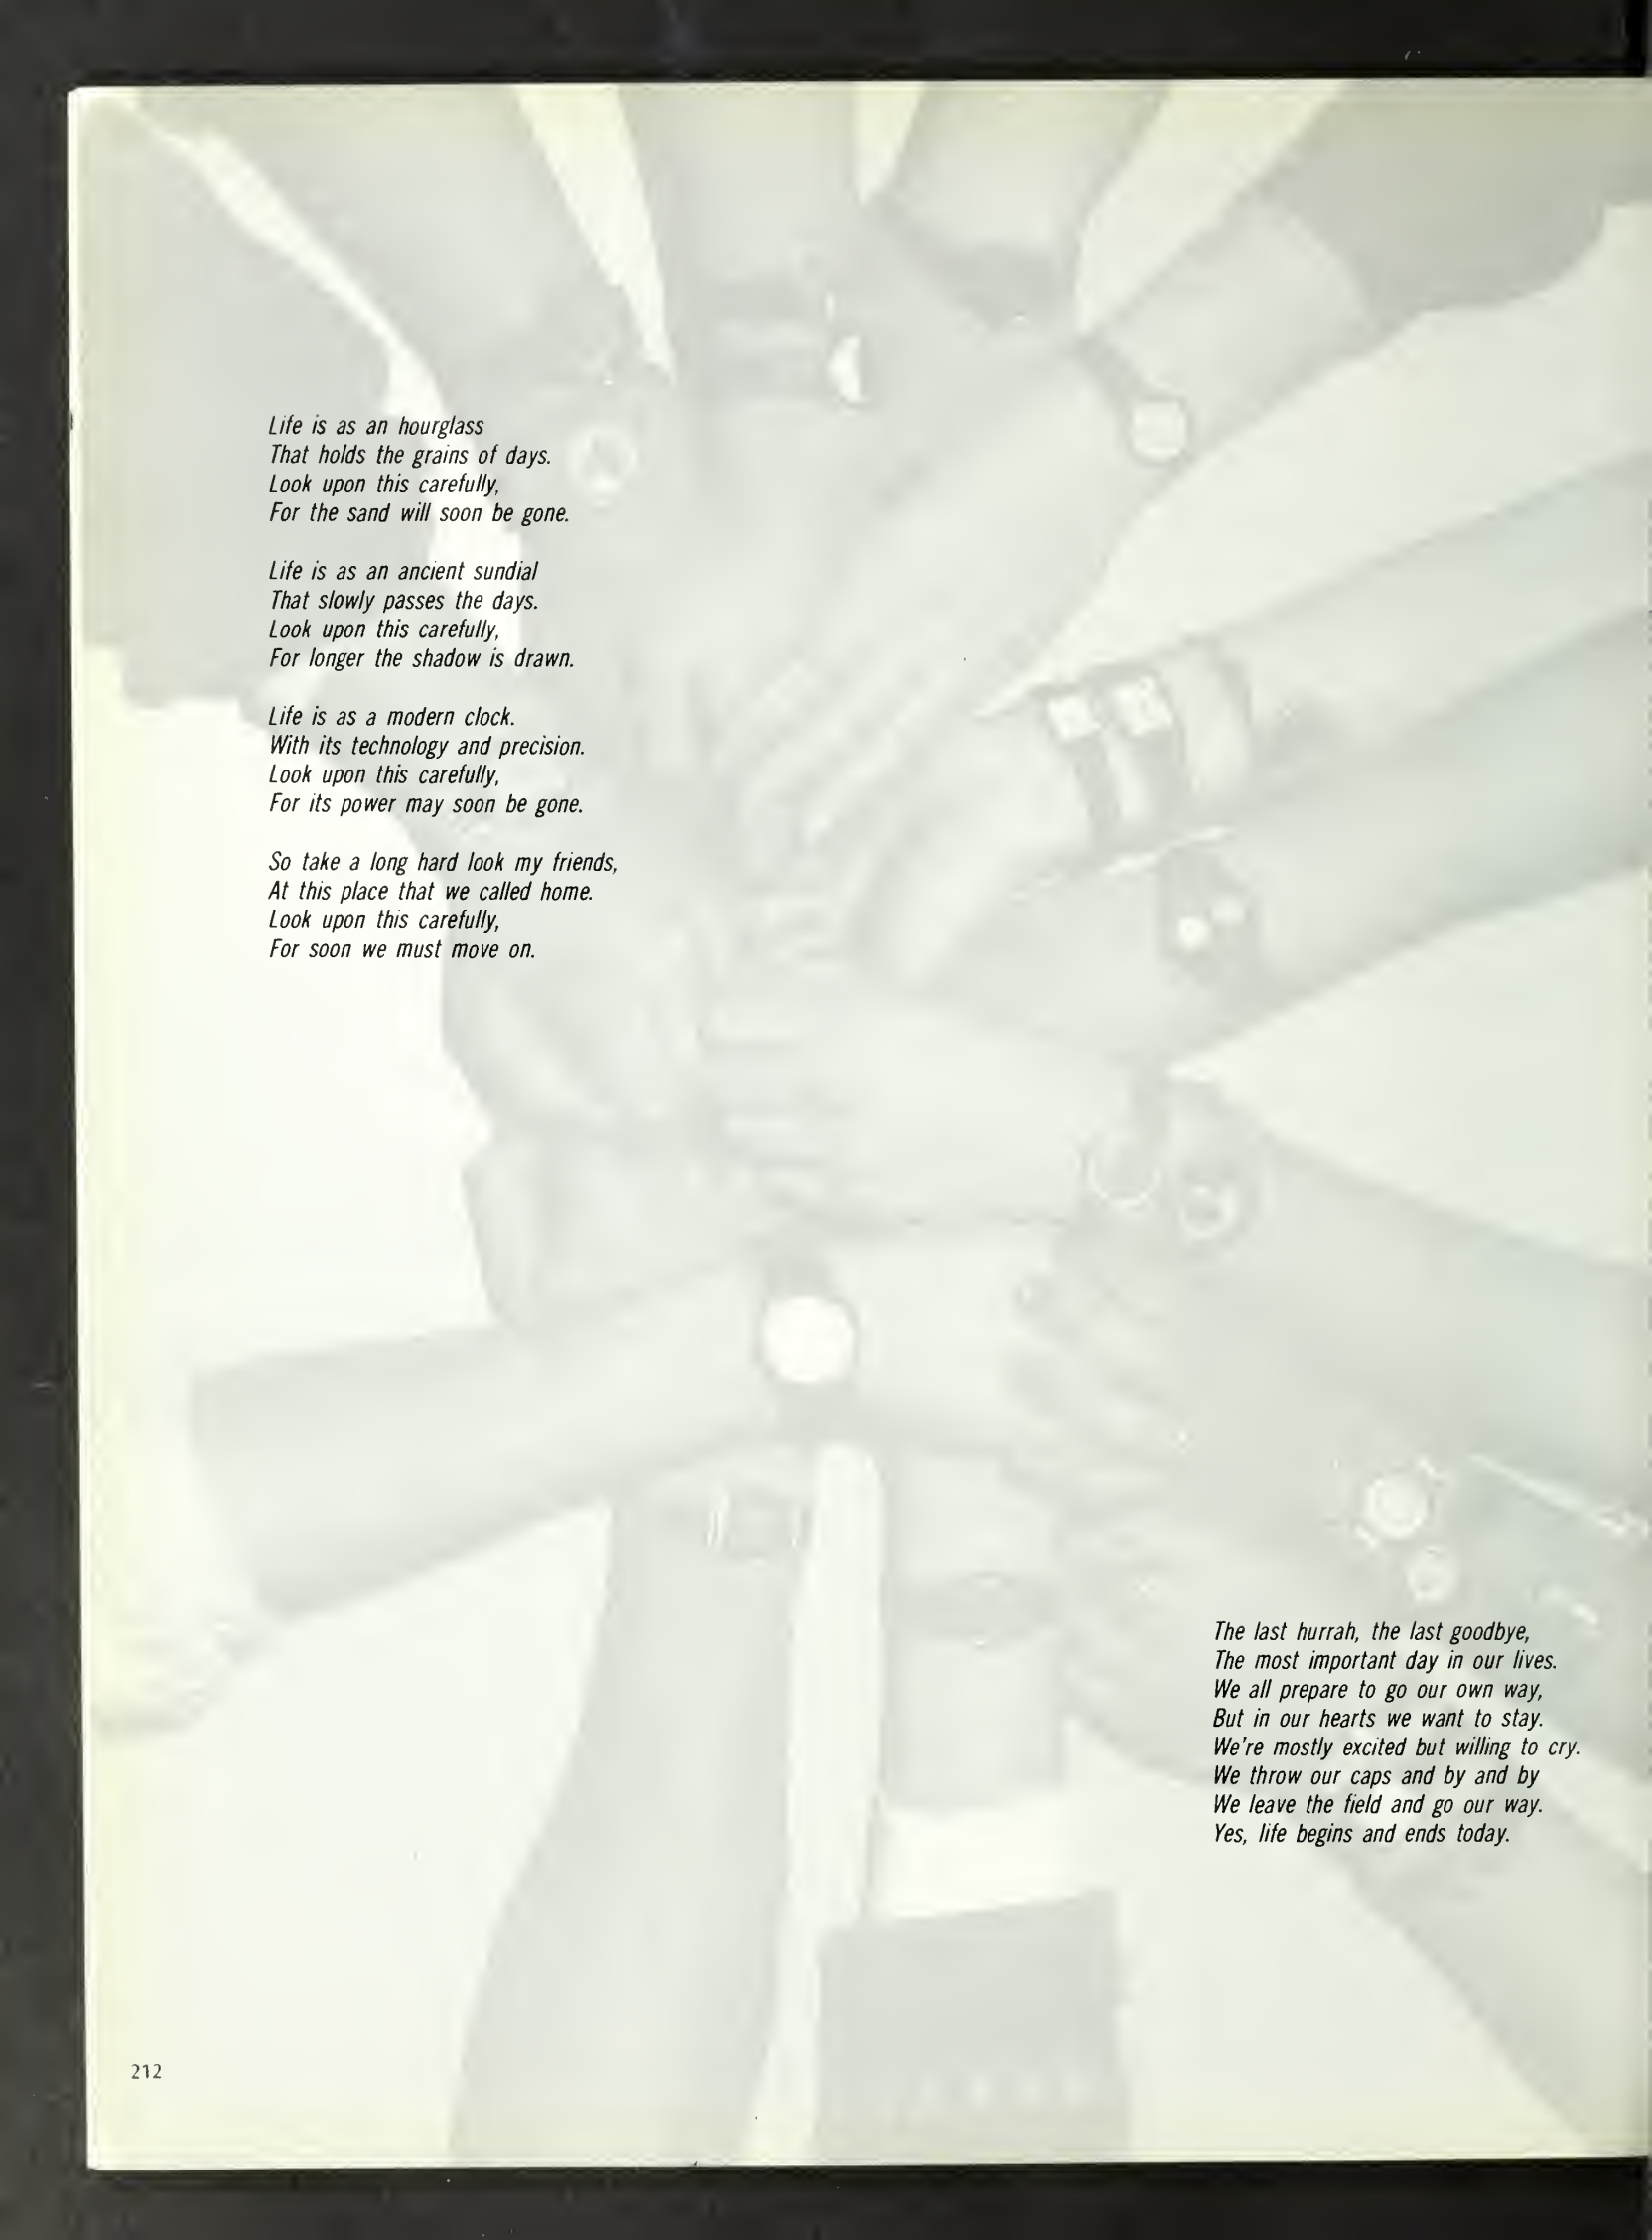

Many thanks go to three very special gentlemen who have always been there in the building when we needed them: Mr. Paul Panasuk, Mr. Bob Sommerfelt, and Mr. Nick DellArciprete.

Thank you, very much, Mr. Croston, Mr. Frontero, and Mr. Hurley, for helping us to make changes both in the book and in the LOG reputation. Last, but by no means least, thank you to all our families, (especially Mrs. Hart, Tenley, and Ryan) who have hardly seen us since September.

Top Left: Lisa Welch casts her eyes downward as her teacher searches for an oral report volunteer. Top Center: Glen Wortman, "Trust me, I have a hall pass." Top Right: Tracey Bertini appears lost in a world of space bars and tab keys. Upper Middle Left: Greg Ruffini earns his credit in Blackjack 101. Upper Middle Center: Jennifer Pozark turns the other cheek at the sight of the camera. Upper Middle Right: John Salmon, "Whew! I'm glad they didn't overexpose me!" Lower Middle Left: Arthur Hitchman and Vinnie Micciche insist that they are not skipping. They only got lost on their way to gym! Lower Middle Center: Doug Gordon whispers fearfully to Mike Monahan, checking to see if the teacher is REALLY collecting homework. Far Left: Jason Page, "If you're not going to take my picture, at least help me shove!" Near Left: As the trash becomes heavier, Mr. Croston thinks that it had better not be a wimpy bag. Above: There's definitely a little devil in Jason Loeser's grin.

*Life is as an hourglass
That holds the grains of days.
Look upon this carefully,
For the sand will soon be gone.*

*Life is as an ancient sundial
That slowly passes the days.
Look upon this carefully,
For longer the shadow is drawn.*

*Life is as a modern clock.
With its technology and precision.
Look upon this carefully,
For its power may soon be gone.*

*So take a long hard look my friends,
At this place that we called home.
Look upon this carefully,
For soon we must move on.*

*The last hurrah, the last goodbye,
The most important day in our lives.
We all prepare to go our own way,
But in our hearts we want to stay.
We're mostly excited but willing to cry.
We throw our caps and by and by
We leave the field and go our way.
Yes, life begins and ends today.*
